Original Art work (11" x 14") by Alex Vigilante - VALUE: $1,500.00

Not since Andy Warhol, Roy Lichtenstein and Robert Rauschenberg has the art world had a renaissance: until now. Like the fathers of Pop, Alex Vigilante is exploring new territory in order to infuse the fine arts with a heightened lightheartedness, glamour and wit. Mimicking Pop Art's heroes, Vigilante draws from film, television, comic books and advertisements for his humorous repartee, but his is a new wave of Popism, which has intelligence as the underlying principle rather than visual stimulus without meaning. Dubbed "The Michelangelo of Miami" by a local art critic, renowned artist Alex Vigilante splits his time among studios in Miami, Argentina, and New York City, working for private clients such as Gloria & Emilio Estefan, filmmaker Oliver Stone, and Miami luminaries Patricia and Philip Frost. In support of Orchestra Miami, Vigilante has graciously donated a piece of his art from his witty, ironic "Email is my Art" series, which explores themes of communication and connection in the digital age through messages from icons of popular culture.
